KSA is an Arab Islamic country, lying on the largest part of the Arabian Peninsula and strategically located between three continents. It is the home of many civilizations and the cradle of a number of heavenly messages. Riyadh is the capital of KSA, a country which is proud of its sound service to the Holy Places of AlMasjid AlHaram in Makkah and AlMasjid Annabawi in AlMadinah AlMunawarah, which are visited annually by millions of Muslims to perform the rituals of Hajj and Umrah. In addition to the presence of many other Islamic landmarks, the Kingdom is known for its many historical events that took place during the Pre-Islamic times, the appearance of Islam, and other important events such as the unification of the kingdom by King Abdul Aziz al Saud, the founder of the Kingdom. The Kingdom is the first in the world in terms of oil production and reserves, and occupies the tenth position in the production of natural gas nowadays..

Setting Overview:

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia covers the largest part of the Arabian Peninsula, consisting of narrow plains along the Red Sea coast, followed by eastward mountain ranges extending over the country (the Hijaz Mountains and Assir, with a maximum height of 2000 meters), followed by deserts and rocky hills in the middle which constitute almost 90% of the total area. The largest of these deserts is called “Annufooth” in the north and the empty quarter (Arrub’ Alkhali) in the south. In the east, along the Arabian Gulf coast, there are also wide coastal plains.

Site:

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia lies in the south-west of Asia, bordered by the Red Sea on the west, the Arab Gulf, the United Arab Emirates and Qatar in the east. KSA is bordered by Kuwait, Iraq and Jordan on the north; and Yemen and Oman on the South.

Area:

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia occupies four fifths of the Arabian Peninsula with an area of 2,000,000 km².

Geographic Features:

The Kingdom's topography is varied because of its wide area. Along the Red Sea, the coastline of Tuhama is about 1,100 km long. This coastline expands to 60 km in the south but gets narrower the more we get to the north up to the Gulf of Aqaba. The height of Sarawat Mountains ranges between 9000 feet in the south and gradually decreases to 3,000 feet as we get to the north. Large valleys descend from these mountains turning east and west, such as Wadi Jazan, Wadi Najran, Wadi Thalith, Wadi Pishah, Wadi Hadd, Wadi Rumah, Wadi Yanbu, and Wadi Fatima (Al Dhahran corridor). Followed by this series from the east and the north, comes the plains of Najd which extend to Hail to connect to the desert of the great Nafud, and then to the borders of Iraq and Jordan. There are also some mountainous highlands such as the mountains of Tawaiq and Al-Aridh, Ajja and Salma. The desert of the Empty Quarter in the southeastern part of the Kingdom which is a large desert area of about 64,000 square km, consisting of sand humps and swamps. The coastal plain in the east, however, which is about 610 km long, consists of salt marshes and sandy areas.

Climate:

The climate of the Kingdom differs from one region to another due to its different topography. KSA is located under the influence of the tropical atmosphere. In general, the climate of the Kingdom is continental, hot in summer and cold in winter where rains occur. The climate is moderate in the western and southwestern highlands, but hot and dry in the central areas and cold and dry in winter. On the coastal areas temperature and humidity are high. There are usually rainfalls during winter and spring on most areas of the Kingdom; however, in the southern highlands of the Kingdom witness more rainy weather in the summer season than the rest of the regions. Humidity rises relatively on the coasts and the western highlands all through the year, and it goes less as we move to the centre of the Kingdom.

Agriculture has developed significantly in recent years. The most important agricultural products are: gains - 4.75 million tons (mainly wheat: 4 million tons, a large portion of which is exported to the countries of the world including the Arab countries); dates - 548,000 tons; tomatoes - 390,000 tons; watermelons - 461,000 tons; melons - 320,000 tons; grapes - 100,000 tons; in addition to the products of onions, potatoes, barley, citrus fruits, figs, white corn, sesame seeds.

Vegetation:

About 2100 plant species have been registered in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, out of which 35 were endemic plant species, or about 2% of the total plant species. In terms of spatial distribution, plants are concentrated in dry regions of the Kingdom, mainly in lowlands such as ranches, valleys, which collect water after rain. Regarding permanent plants, (representing about 35 to 40% of the number of desert species), which give the desert areas the green sight most of the year are usually found in limited areas such as ponds, valleys, low valleys and lands with sediments and fertile deep soil, as well as in sand ridges and swamps.

Forests and savannah grasslands grow on the highlands of the south and south-west areas of the Arabian Peninsula, similar to those in north-eastern Africa. On the low desert areas of this region on the other hand grow in similar savannah species such as attalah, assamer, assalam and other scattered tropical trees.

Animal life:

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia has a variety of animal species that have the ability to adapt to living in such an arid environment. The country has many types of mammals, birds, reptiles, and insects that have adapted to the desert environment. The numbers of these animals, especially the large ones, such as deer, have declined since the 1940s due to overhunting. However, the establishment of reserves in several parts of the Kingdom has contributed to the spread of some endangered animals such as goats, deer and others, Cattle, sheep and goats, and transport animals such as horses, donkeys and others.

It is estimated that the numbers of livestock in the Kingdom are as follows: cattle: 216,000 heads, camel 419,000 heads, sheep 8.1 million heads, goat 3.4 million heads, and 50,000 tons of fish.

5. Wadi Adawasir

Wadi al-Dawasir Governorate, similar to other governorate an emirate. It was established during the sovereignty of King Abdul Aziz, Mercy be on him, in 1329 AH. This governorate has undergone many developmental stages, including an urban, educational, agricultural and health renaissance. It has a number of public facilities and branches of all ministries, agencies and security sectors. It also has a number of private and public service facilities to keep up with the general trend and serve the country and the society. Wadi Al-Dawasir is one of the largest governorates in the region of Riyadh in terms of area and population. It is located about 650 km south of Riyadh, the capital. Its area is more than 50,000 km² and its population is approximately 150 thousands. It Is bordered by the province of Qawaiya in the north, Slayil and Aflaj in the east, Najran region in the south, and Mecca and Asir regions in the west. Its significant location and history on the map of our beloved kingdom equips it to grow and take the position deserved in the country.

Reason for naming:

It was called Wadi after the name of the valley running across the Arabian Peninsula in ancient times which was attributed to its people and its inhabitants, the sons of the tribe of Al-Dawasir. (In Arabic, Dawsar is the plural of “Doseri” and “Doser”)

Names of Wadi Al-Dawasir in History:

Wadi Al-Dawasir was known as:

- * Al-Aqiq
- * Aqiq bani Oqayl
- * Aqiq Tamra

It is well known that Aqiq in Arabic is the valley that erodes earth.

The initial image that comes to a person's mind as he meets this name of Wadi Al-Dawasir without seeing it, is a picture of a running valley between two mountains. Hence, reality tells quite the opposite. It is a flat land with golden sand, surrounded by green farms and pastures from all sides with the finest natural components.

Its climate:

The continental desert climate prevails in Wadi Al-Dawasir. It is hot in summer with more than 45C° in summer, and cold in winter with less 5 C°.

Timetable Time Zone (Global Time): GMT + 3

Wildlife reserves:

Wadi al-Dawasar was a rich area for antelopes, deer, rabbits, and ostriches to a time not long ago. Nowadays, there are two of the largest wildlife protected reserves in the Kingdom. Orooq bani Mua'ridh in the Empty Quarter on the banks of the wadi from the east has got herds of ibexes, deer and the birds in addition to natural plants. The other one which has the same nature is called Majame' Al-Hadhab on the northern side of the wadi.

Towns and villages:

There are more than 150 centres (populated areas) and villages in Wadi Al-Dawasir; all of them witnessed development and advances similar to the other areas in the kingdom.
